(b) Robert
(c) George
(d) William
(e) Elizabeth
(f) Thomas
(g) John
(h) Martha - married a Parker

I - B - 3 - d - (1) (a)

Humphrey married Anne Ashley d^ed 1772 in Bertie County, N.C.

Children

Frederick
Reuben
Anna
Nathaniel (1735-1800) was a 2^na Lieutenant in 10^th N.C. Infantry 1777-1781 - married Louisa Rempf in South Carolina
(I do not know when he moved to South Carolina and then to Mississippi. Nor do I know the names & dates of birth, death etc of his children)
He had a son the Reverend Nathaniel Laurence who married a Mary Andrews. Their youngest child was Susan Margaret, who was my grandmother. She was apparently born in 182?
in South Carolina and moved to Artesia, Mississippi with her family. She married John Pendleton Gaines & the same community (Artesia, Miss)
Both Nathaniel's are buried in the Laurence-Randall graveyard near Artesia, Miss.

My cousin Sis Jacksonville, Florida has a copy of the Reverend Nathaniel Laurence's will

THE SEARCH FINALLY ENDS!!

For over 10 years many members of the family have searched so hard for our relative SILAS LAWRENCE, but to no avail. Now finally we have found out about his parents. Let me share with you the long journey we have taken. Many of us have even been to Bucksport, Maine where Silas was susposed to have been born. We have this information from the front of his very own bible, where he wrote, "I was born near Bucksport, Maine, May 16, 1822."

Another cousin, decendant from George A. R. Lawrence, in Mobile, named Curtis Ezell is also working on the research. Curtis had written an inquiry to someone and this inquiry appeared in a publication SECOND VOTER/FORBEARERS -- NEW ENGLAND ANCESTORS, and some in Maryland doing research on the line of John Gordon Lawrence, saw the article about Silas Lawrence and having worked with the Lawrence search on her husbands side, wrote Curtis a letter with copies from a very old book, written in 1857 on the Lawrence Family, found in her Genealogy department in her library in Elkridge, Maryland.

Copies of this information are enclosed for each family, with appreciation for all who have worked so many long hours hunting "our" Silas.

Tom let me call this lady in Maryland, and she sent me the entire copies of the family lineage from this NEw England publication. We all knew some where out there someone would have to know about Silas.

Now we learn why we could not find Silas Lawrence. He was born May 16, 1822 to Rebecca (Betsy) Lawrence and William W. West. When he let home he was evidently mad at his father and took his mother's maiden name of Lawrence. There was no Silas Lawrence the we look for so long, he was born Silas West. Oh, his middle name was Silas V. West, and we bet that V. stood for Vernoice. Uncle Vernoice got me interested in the wonderful hobby of genealogy, and his heart's desire was to find the family names of Silas' parents.

Some corrections are made on a seperate page about Silas' family.

Love to all the family,

according to his request for a pension, from the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Pensions, Washington, D. C. Nov. 4, 1892, Silas married Milinda Kirklin, 1841 and we have learned she became sick with Yellow Fever and died in 1842. Then, in May, 1846 he married Nancy Litchfield, this information from his Pension request and also from Baldwin County records, so now this is documented.

So Silas was born to William H. West and Rebecca (Betsy) Lawrence) on May 16, 1822 in ORLAND, MAINE.

In the information from the printed text, Genealogy of the Generation No. VII, family number 301, Silas V. West was the first child of Betsy and William W. West, in Orland, Maine. The date for the marriage to Nancy Litchfield in incorrect.

THE INTRODUCTION.

IT is now a little more than two hundred years since the death, in Groton, Mass., of JOHN LAWRENCE, of Wisset, in Suffolk, England, and nearly twenty-two years since the first Genealogy of his descendants in New England was offered to the public.

The edition, of five hundred copies, of "The Family of John Lawrence," published in 1857, has been nearly, if not wholly, taken up.

The money received from the sale, with that given to aid its publication by a friend of the family, has just covered the pecuniary expenditure. As yet, therefore, the Genealogy has cost those receiving it but a trifle, no remuneration having been obtained for the time and labor expended on it.

The cost of printing is now, probably, a hundred per cent greater than in 1857; and the present more accurate and comprehensive Genealogy will be, it is hoped, far more valuable to those for whom it has been published.

ARCHBISHOP LAWRENCE.

The first individual of this name who lived in England, yet ascertained, was Lawrence the monk. Collier, in his Dictionary, has the name Laurentius. In Harris's "History of Kent," it is Lawrence. He came from Italy with Austin, who was sent to Britain for the propagation of Christianity in the island.

Upon the death of Austin, he succeeded him to the Archbishopric of Canterbury. He is said to have been both learned and pious; and, at his death, was buried in the Abbey of St. Austins, A.D. 916.

"Raguled" is a term used "to represent the rough-hewn stems of a tree from which the branches have been rudely lopped."

Proceeding with the successive generations of ancestry, we have, in order of time, the first, — Sir Robert Lawrence, of Ashton Hall.

THE SECOND GENERATION.

Sir Robert, a son, and the immediate successor, of the knight of the Crusades, to the estate of Ashton Hall, married a daughter of James Trafford, Esq., of Lancashire; by whom he had a son and heir, James Lawrence.

THE THIRD GENERATION.

James of Ashton Hall married, it is said, "in 1252," Matilda de Washington, an heiress, daughter of John de Washington. A son by this marriage, and the successor of James of Ashton Hall, was John Lawrence, said to have been living in the thirty-seventh year of Henry III.

Respecting the names "Lawrence" and "Washington," it may be noted, that Lawrence Washington, a brother of the first President of the United States, was one of the earliest proprietors of Mount Vernon.

THE FOURTH GENERATION.

John of Ashton Hall married Margaret, daughter of Walter Chesford; by whom he had a son, John Lawrence, his heir and successor.

The Ancestral Lineage

JOHN LAWRENCE, OF WATERTOWN, MASS.

THE lineal ancestry of this stock of Lawrences in America, now found quite numerous in New England and other parts of the country, has been at length very satisfactorily ascertained. As traced and determined, it originates in and is derived from one Robert Lawrence, of Lancashire, England; born, probably, as early as A.D. 1150, and the ancestor of the earliest families of the name in England. Attending his sovereign, Richard Cœur de Lion, to the war of the Crusades in the Holy Land, he so distinguished himself in the siege of Acre, that he was knighted "Sir Robert of Ashton Hall," and obtained for his arms, "Argent, a cross raguly gules," A.D. 1191.

The arms of Sir Robert of Ashton Hall, conferred by Richard I., namely, "Argent, a cross raguly gules," were also those of the Lancashire branch generally; also, "He beareth Ermine, a cross raguled gules, by the name of Lawrence, of Lancashire;" thus:

THE FIFTH GENERATION.

John, son of John and Margaret, married Elisabeth Holt, of Stably, in Lancashire; and died, it is said, A.D. 1360, leaving Robert Lawrence, his son and heir.

THE SIXTH GENERATION.

Sir Robert, of Ashton Hall, married Margaret Holden, of Lancashire, and had I. Robert; II. Thomas, the father of Arthur Lawrence, Esq., of Prior's Court, in Gloucestershire; III. William, born 1425, or before, who fought under the Lancastrian banner at St. Alban's in 1455, and, having fallen there, was buried in the Abbey; IV. Edmund, who is said to have married a daughter of Miles de Stapleton, a descendant of the distinguished family of that name of Norman extraction. The Gloucestershire branch of the family had the same arms as already given; likewise the Buckinghamshire Lawrences. Thus, "Argent, a cross raguled gules, is borne by a family of the name of Lawrence in Buckinghamshire and Gloucestershire." — "Crest, The tail (or hindmost half) of a chub (fish) inverted and erect."

THE SEVENTH GENERATION.

Sir Robert, son of Sir Robert and Margaret Holden, of Ashton Hall, married Amphilbis, daughter of Edward Longford, Esq., of Longford; and had, I. James, heir and successor to the estate of Ashton Hall, who married Cecily, daughter of —— Boteler, Esq., of Lancashire, an heiress, and had issue, two sons and a daughter. II. Robert, who married Margaret, daughter of John Lawrence, Esq., of Lancashire, and had sons, Robert and John; the latter of whom commanded a wing of the English army, under Lord Stanley, in the battle of Flodden Field: also William, who became a great landholder. III. Nicholas Lawrence.

THE EIGHTH GENERATION.

Nicholas, son of Sir Robert and Amphilbis, was of Agercroft. He married, and had sons, I. Thomas; II. Nicholas; III. Robert; IV. John; V. William; VI. Henry; VII. Oliver, the ancestor of the Crich-Grange branch of Lawrences. The son and successor of Sir Oliver Lawrence was Edward, who died in 1601; leaving a son, Sir Edward, who was knighted in 1619, and died about 1630.

THE NINTH GENERATION.

John, son of Nicholas Lawrence, of Agercroft, was ancestor of the Lawrences of St. James's Park in Suffolk, it is stated in the pedigree of the Lawrences of Ashton Hall. He died in 1461; leaving Thomas Lawrence, of Rumburgh, in Suffolk.

THE TENTH GENERATION.

Thomas of Rumburgh held lands in other places; as Holton, Wisset, and South Elmham. He married, and had, I. John; II. Richard, of St. Ives. The will of Thomas Lawrence is dated July 17, 1471.

THE ELEVENTH GENERATION.

John Lawrence, son of Thomas of Rumburgh, married Margery ——, by whom he had a son, Robert. His will was made July 10, 1504, the year of his death: his wife died in 1507. Both were buried in the church of Rumburgh.

THE TWELFTH GENERATION.

Robert, son of John and Margery Lawrence, is named in his father's will, and his wife in that of her mother-in-law. Their issue was a son, John Lawrence.

THE THIRTEENTH GENERATION.

John of Rumburgh, mentioned in the will of his grandmother, married Elisabeth ——, by whom he had, I. Henry; II. John; III. Agnes; IV. Margaret; V. Katharine; VI. William, of St. James's Park, South Elmham; exiled during the reign of Queen Mary, he afterwards returned, and labored as a preacher at Fressingfield; VII. Richard, of Wisset and Rumburgh, whose will was dated Jan. 27, 1556.

THE FOURTEENTH GENERATION.

John, son of John and Elisabeth Lawrence, married Agnes ——, and had, I. John; II. Richard, who died in 1596; III. Susan; IV. Elisabeth; V. Margaret. His wife died Jan. 22, 1583. His will bears date April 27, 1590. He was buried at Rumburgh, May 21, 1590.

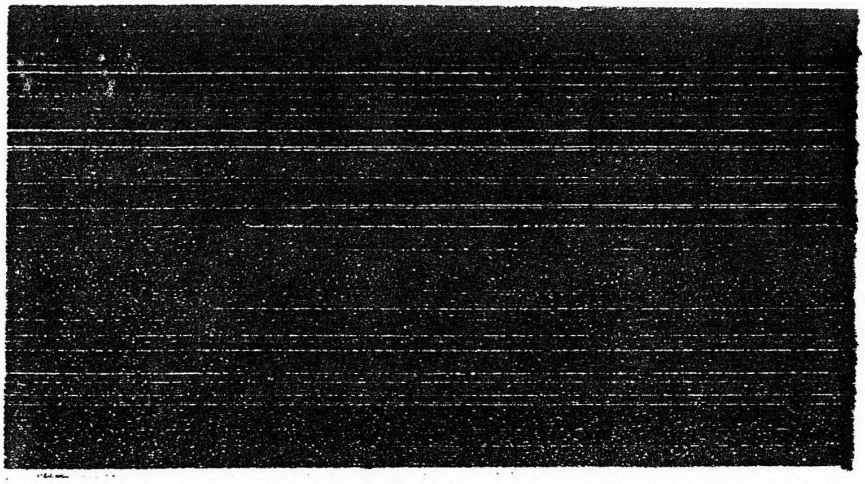

THE FIFTEENTH GENERATION.

John, son of John and Agnes Lawrence, was of Wisset, in Suffolk, and married Johan ——. They had issue, I. Henry; II. Robert, whose will, dated 1641, names his kinsman, Henry North of Laxfield, a son of Sir Henry North, and grandson of Lord North; III. Margery; IV. Katharine. The will of John Lawrence, of Wisset, is dated June 2, 1606. He was buried Jan. 16, 1607.

THE SIXTEENTH GENERATION.

Henry, son of John and Johan Lawrence, married Mary ——, by whom he had John, born at Wisset, and baptized Oct. 8, 1609. The will of John Lawrence, of Wisset, the father of Henry, refers to him as having removed from Wisset to New England, and settled in Charlestown. And on the lists of those who became inhabitants of Charlestown, Mass., in 1635, is the name of Henry Lawrence. Also, "In the first division of land on Mistick side, of ten acres to a house, five of which were given in for after-comers, made, as it appears, Feb. 20, 1638, Henry Lawrence received five acres." A house-lot was granted him in 1635 by George Blott.

13. XI. ELISABETH, b. May 9, 1655, in Boston; and by will of her father "to live with Mr. Ensign Buss, of Concord, till of age."

14. XII. JONATHAN, b. —, in Watertown; probably m., Nov. 5, 1677, Rebecca Rutter, of Cambridge; died in 1725, leaving no issue. By his will, dated Aug. 27, 1725, approved Oct. 29, 1729, he left to the town of Groton "£100 towards the purchasing and procuring a good meeting-house bell, and the putting it up." It was voted, "that the name of Lieut. Jonathan Lawrence be set thereon." Also he left "to the church of Christ in Groton £40, to be laid out for the procuring of some silver vessel or vessels for the church's use, as they shall order;" also "£20, the income to be annually paid or accounted for to the settled or ordained minister."

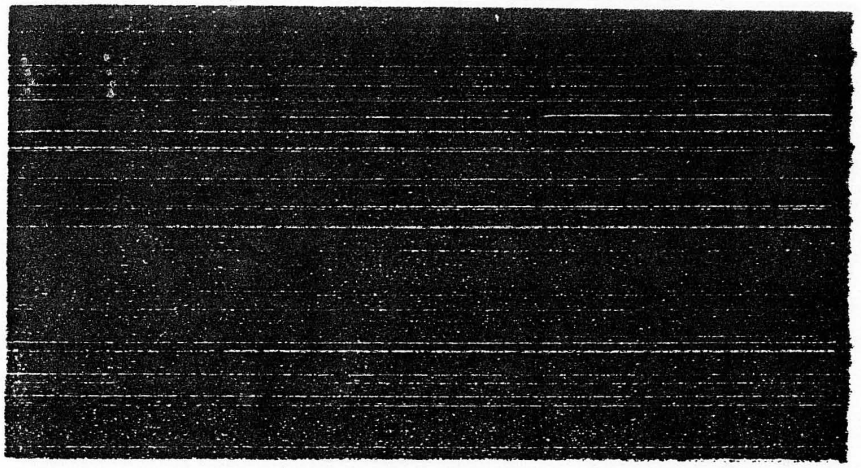

15. XIII. ZECHARIAH, b. March 9, 1658–9, in Watertown. He was a mariner, and lived probably in Boston. Elisabeth, wife of John Lawrence, died in Groton, Aug. 29, 1663. He m., Nov. 2, 1664, Susanna, daughter of Wm. Batchelder, of Charlestown; by whom he had, —

16. XIV. ABIGAIL, b. Jan. 9, 1666, in Groton.

17. XV. SUSANNA, b. July 3, 1667, in Groton.

He was admitted a freeman, April 17, 1637, when about twenty-eight years old; though it will be seen, by the early Massachusetts Records, that the freeman's oath was given at first to males of only sixteen years. Feb. 28, 1636, he received three acres of land, his share of a grant then made to the townsmen, a hundred and six in number. In 1650, he bought of the town fifteen acres of common land (called King's Common). "In 1654, Hugh Mason received of John Lawrence, clerk, £2. 17s. 6d., money for town or parish use." His removal to Groton is determined by various facts and dates. Town Records are in existence, dated June 23, 1662; the first probably made. As one of the original proprietors, he owned "a twenty-acre right." The sale of his lands and mansion-house in Watertown was made in 1662. In December of the same year, it appears by the records of Groton, "meet men were found amongst the inhabitants," of whom "John Lawrence" was one, "who were chosen selectmen." He was evidently a man of some intelligence and influence, and held a good place in the public esteem. Though a large landholder for the times, he is said to have carried on the business of a carpenter both in Watertown and Boston. He died in Groton, July 11, 1667; leaving his sons Nathaniel and Joseph, and wife Susanna, executors of his will. The widow, Susanna B. Lawrence, died July 8, 1668, in Charlestown.

He was dismissed from the church of Groton, First Parish; and signed the covenant of the church in the West Parish, so called, gathered Jan. 29, 1746–7. On the building of a meeting-house, the parish "voted, Nov. 23, 1744, that Peleg Lawrence and Josiah Sartell be a Committee to the Great and General Court concerning y^e^ having a meeting-house place in said parish."

He was chosen a deacon, Aug. 23, 1754; and died July 27, 1757, in his fifty-seventh year. Ruth Lawrence, the widow of Deacon Peleg, died the 4th of September, 1757, aged about fifty-seven years. The memorial on the gravestone of Deacon Peleg reads thus: —

"A Man of Wisdom, Prudence, Honesty,
Public Spiritedness, and Piety;
The poor Man's Friend.
Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Line I: Descent from Nathaniel Boulter

Nathaniel Boulter (c 1625-1693) was undoubtedly born in England about 1625 as appears in an affidavit given by him and John Redman, Nov. 1658.

He received a tract of land in Hampton, (then Mass., now New Hampshire) probably about 1642, but sold it to William Howard prior to July 8, 1644, at which time a question arose as to whether he was an inhabitor of Hampton. The answer given as follows:

"The Townsmen do judge that he was an inhabitor and therefore approve and confirm the bargain between him and Howard".

By 1645, his name was seen affixed to various petitions from the town of Exeter to the Governor and General Court at Boston, and apparently, he intended to settle there. In 1647 he married Grace Swaine, dau. of Richard and Basella Swaine of Hampton, and they were still in Exeter, when their first child, Mary, was born in May 1648. However, within a month, Nathaniel is recorded on the Court records of Hampton:

"Hampton Court, 26th, 7th mo. 1648: It is ordered by this Court that Nathaniel Boulter is fined 10 shillings for a lye in open Court affirming a thing against two witnesses."

Another item:

"Nathaniel Boulter, being convicted the second time of drunkeness before the worshipfull: Mr. Richard Saltonstall, is fined according to law, 20 shillings."

With this inauspicious beginning, we find the Boulters playing an active and effective part in the developement of the Town of Hampton. They are shown on the maps of Hampton Center as living on the meetinghouse Green, on the rise that later became known as Randi Hill.

The births of their ten children spanned the years, from 1648 through Dec 1672, but four of them born in the 1650's, died as infants or toddlers by 1664.

While they struggled to make a home and a living, records of Nathaniel's activities appear in divers places, in the early writings of the Town.

On July 4, 1660, Boulter bought of John Barrett, "ensign of Wells in yc County County of Yorke in New England" about 100 acres "lying up Taylor's River by the Indian Graves called James Wall's farm". He then sold it to John Duggens. John's title to the land was disputed later on and the land taken away from him by the Town. (More of this later.)

Shortly afterwards, Nathaniel received from his father-in-law, Richard Swaine, four acres with all the orchard growing on it off the easterly part of his house-lot abutting on the meetinghouse Green. Grace Boulter also received from her father, the rest of his house lot westward to the fence of the heirs of William Swaine, except a small parcel of about one acre in the Custody of Moses Cox."

In 1663, Nathaniel was given Power of Attorney to do business for Richard in Hampton, as Richard had already moved permanently to Nantucket Island.

At a meeting on 11 Mar 1661/2, the town, as an act of justice to the owners of the meadows or marshes over which the Causeway passed, gave them permission to set up gates across it in convenient places on both sides of the meadows to prevent cattle from feeding or trampling upon them. The Town, also voted that after the erection of such gates, no person should put any cattle upon these meadows between the first of April and the first of October, under penalty of being accounted as trespassers and dealt with accordingly. Nathaniel Boulter alone dissented.

Also, at Hampton, at this time, no one could fell timber, mow the meadows or pasture cows on the land called "Cow-Commons" unless they owned at least one share in it, on pain of being considered a trespasser. In 1664, Nathaniel was sued for trespassing, though records do not show which wrong act he committed. Thomas Marsten and William Fifield were selected to act as attorneys for the Town, but the case seems to have gone in Nathaniel's favor. Accordingly, the town voted to take it to the Court at Salisbury, John Redman to act as agent for them, but before the matter came to Court, the town agreed to grant him one of the 11 reserved shares of the Cow-Common.

By 1666, the controversy that had been raging all this time over John Huggens' land came to a conclusion. The problem had been originally rooted in the validity of John Barrett's ownership. How could he, being of Wells, in York County, own land that had been granted to Hampton by the Mass. Court & the town land system? The problem was solved on a technicality, since John's ownership had been approved and recorded by the Town Clerk on one occasion, when all the land grants were under review. The town felt that the Clerk had made a mistake in identification of the property, but the jury upheld the ownership on right of possession. Thus Barrett's sale to Boulter was valid, restoring Boulter's authority to sell it to John Huggens. As the attorney acting for Huggens, Nathaniel succeeded in having the property restored to him in an out-of-Court agreement.

In 1667, Nathaniel sold one acre of the Swaine land to John and Hannah Souther, and two + ½ acres of planting ground next of the Souther acre along with one share of the Cow-Common + One share of the Great Ox Common to Daniel Howe.

Nathaniel and his family continued to face all the hardships of daily living, including the increased hostilities of the Indians which caused the settlers to be afraid for their lives every day. As if this were not enough, there were deep-seated legal issues of land tenure to add to their worries. Robert Mason of England was disputing the right to anyone's ownership but his!

Capt John Mason (m) Ann Peck -

He claimed before King Charles II to have inherited the right of "proprietor" of all the New Hampshire settlements from his grandfather, Capt. John Mason, and was angered by the way the Court of Mass. had assumed the authority to parcel it out as it saw fit.

Mason was upheld in that claim by the English Attorney-General, and the struggle to gain control eventually caused the severence of New Hampshire from Massachusetts. It was made a Royal Province to be governed by an Assembly under the leadership of a President and Council. In 1680 Nathaniel was on the list of voters of Hampton who were required to take an oath of Allegience and then vote on representatives to be sent to the First Assembly.

The system had barely laid groundwork for government when Mason came over and assumed a seat on the Council, expecting to get recognition as owner of all the land. The situation was this: People had been granted their land by the Massachusetts Court and the local Town systems, and had worked hard to protect it from the French and Indians, and to bring it under cultivation in order to provide themselves with a living. No gesture of help in any way had been forthcoming from Mr. Mason, in return for which they would graciously be allowed to pay lease rentals to him for the privilege of continuing to live there.... the old system of English land holding.

'To Mason's point of view, it was all very simple and very legal --- and he expected to see the money come rolling in as soon as his deputies could collect it.

But he ran into an annoying problem in the deputies couldn't, or wouldn't, collect! While Mason fumed, and eventually had Governor Cranfield appointed and bribed to work in his favor, the townspeople held under-cover meetings to discuss the problem and look for alternate options.

Edward Hove literally endangered his life trying to foment a rebellion, feeling bound to protect his property by the sword against the English, as he had against the Indians. When this failed, the people in Hampton secretly delegated Nathaniel Weare, Boulter's brother-in-law, to go to England and lay their grievances before the King. Mason found out about it and prevented him from securing the evidence and dispositions that were needed to support his case, and even after two trips to England, Weare's mission failed. The Boulter family, undoubtedly was privy to all of the controversies pertaining to this issue. Although most of the people were accustomed to being law-abiding, and for some, there were good economic reasons for complying with the hated orders, resentment was smoldering and compliance crawled at a snail's pace.

The various resistance movements had such an effect that in 1686, the British tried another tactic. All of New England was made into a Royal Province, with Sir Edmond Andros, as its Governor. He ruled as a tyrant, with all delegates completely under his control so that their opinions meant nothing. Town meetings were forbidden and no one could leave the Country without his permission lest anyone should complain to the King. Town records are exceedingly scarce during this period but relief finally came in 1689. James II was deposed, William and Mary of Orange became King and Queen of England, and Andros was sent back to England. In 1692, the heirs of Mason sold their interest in the whole situation to Samuel Allen, a London merchant, for 750 pounds. Allen was made Governor of the Province by King William, but remained in England. John Usher was appointed Lieutenant Governor to come over to New Hampshire and assume command.

King William's war was well under way by now, with its eventual impact on the Boulter family, but daily routines had to go on. Nathaniel and Grace would have been aware of the growth of their daughter, Mary Prescott's eight children across the causeway to the west of town. Nathaniel Jr. was married and had one daughter, Elizabeth, born in 1688, but then he, himself, died suddenly in 1689, leaving his widow with another child to be born posthumously — also a girl named Mary. Elizabeth and John, the Boulter's two youngest children, were still at home when Nathaniel Sr. died on 14 March 1693.

He was probably buried in what is now called "The Old Burying Ground", a place set apart for such purposes early in the town's history, but finally fenced in about 1654. It was on the eastern part of the Meeting House Green, and continued to be used for a cemetery for about a century and a half. Most are unmarked, so that the exact resting places of Nathaniel and his family

Mary Boulter (1648-1735)

* Mary Boulter was born May 15, 1648 in Exeter, N.H., the eldest child of Nathaniel and Grace (Swaine) Boulter. Soon after her birth, the family moved back to Hampton where each parent had lived before their marriage. Mary grew up there on Rand's Hill, fronting the Meeting House Green.

Academic education in Hampton was rudimentary, and Mary probably concentrated on learning from her mother the basic skills and crafts, needed by a Colonial farm housewife. Her religious instruction was received through participation in the worship services at the Meeting House across the road.

In 1657, Mary would have known the loss of her Grandmother, Bashelle Swaine, while the re-marriage and removal of her Grandfather, Richard Swaine, to Nantucket soon afterwards in 1660, would have left her with no grandparents in the area.

Mary, was in her early teens in 1661, when her two-year-old sister, Rebecca, died, followed a week later by her four-year-old brother, Joshua. A baby sister, Grace, died in 1663, aged one month.

* Mary, was married to James Prescott in 1668, when she was about twenty years old. He had only been in the country from England for about three years, by that time, and was just getting his farm underway, in the western part of the settlement along the road to Exeter.

Children began arriving in 1669, and Mary soon had her hands full, with routine household chores under Colonial living conditions. This included helping to grow flax for making linen thread and sheep to be shorn for their wool, followed by the carding, spinning and weaving necessary for providing cloth to be sewn into clothing for nine growing children.

Throughout the rest of the century, as her children were growing up, there was constant worry about political changes in the country threatening their right to the property they worked so hard to develop, as well as the constant, day-to-day, struggle to keep food on the table. As their house was a garrison house during times of threatened Indian attacks, she would have had the added chores of helping to feed all the neighbors who arrived at their door for protection.

In 1680, Mary and her Mother, Grace (Swaine) Boulter, were named, along with several other women as being witches. Although two of the women so accused, were imprisoned and fined, apparently no action was taken against Mary and her mother.

In the early 16a 90's, her husband, James, became interested in developing the Kingston area, and in 1694, he and a few others petitioned for a settlement to be incorporated there. For the next twenty-five years, James continued to commute between their two farms in Hampton Falls and Kingston. In September of 1724, their son-in-law, Jabez Colemans, and his son, Joseph, were killed by Indians in Kingston, on the shore of Little Pond.

Joseph left a young widow and two little girls. Whether it was because their daughter, Mary, was now alone and needed help, or whether they had been planning the move all along, in 1725 James and Mary, with their son, Joseph, moved to Kingston permanently.

James died three years after this move on 24 November 1728. Mary survived him by seven years, living to see many improvements in the town of Kingston, including the building of the second meeting house, in 1732, as described opposite. Mary died the 4 October 1735, aged 87 years, 4 mo, + 20 days. It is likely that both of them are buried in the Kingston Plains Cemetery, but not records exist to confirm this.

The year 1735 was a bleak one in the history of the area as children, by the hundreds died of diptheria among them some of Mary's grandchildren. In spite of these set-backs, she was survived by approximately 38 grandchildren.

Richard Swaine (CA 1601-1682)

Richard Swaine embarked in London, on "The Truelove" (John Gibbs, master), for New England on 20 Sep 1635, at the age of 34 years. Thus, he was born about 1601 and his country of origin was England; but his parents have not been identified, or where his family actually lived.

Savage, in his Genealogical Dictionary, says that "he had, in April, perhaps his wife, Elizabeth in "The Planter"; his sons, William Swayne, 11 and Francis Swayne 14 years on "The Rebecca" (John Hedger, ~~Master~~ Master), and daughter, Elizabeth on "The Susan & Ellen" under the care of various friends".

Mrs. Swaine was termed "Bassella" in the Hampton records. The family settled in Rowley, Mass., a small settlement on the Atlantic seaboard lying between Boston and the part that later was settled as Hampton.

In the Autumn of 1638, Winnacunnet remaining still unsettled; a petition signed by Reverand Stephen Bachiler (Batchelder) and others, was presented to the General Court, asking leave to settle there. This request was granted and the record stands thus:

others, shall have liberty to begin a plantation at Winnicunnet, and Mr. Bradstreete, Mr. Winthrope, Junior and Mr. Rawson or some two of them are to assist in setting out the place of the towne, and apportioning the several quantity of land to each man, so as nothing shall be done therein without leave from them, or two of them."

The above grant was made sometime during the ~~season~~ session of the General Court, that was commenced 6 September 1638. It is probable that they commenced the work of clearing the land for settlement by October of that year in order to have space ready for planting early the following spring, and that the group included Richard Swaine. Not long afterwards, Mr. Bachiler requested that the name of the town be changed to "Hampton", and again it was granted.

A site was first selected for a house of worship, lying on the north side of a large salt marsh, and became known as The Meeting House Green. From the easterly part of the Green, a Common Way was laid out where the principal road to the seashore now goes. Around the Green and along the Way, many of the early families had their homes. A ten acre lot was assigned to Richard Swaine in 1638, next to the parsonage land of Rev. Timothy Dalton, who had very shortly joined the group as an assistant pastor to the Rev. Stephen Bachiler, the founder.

At the first Town Meeting on 31 Oct 1639, William Wakefield was chosen Town Clerk, and Christopher Hussey, Richard Swaine, and William Wakefield were chosen to measure, lay forth and bound all such lots as should be granted by the freemen. (Richard Swaine had been made a freeman on 13 Mar 1639). They were to hold their office for one year, and to receive as compensation for their services, "twelve shillings for laying out a house lot and, in ordinary cases, one penny an acre for all the other land surveyed by them."

Some persons had undoubtedly expended more money and made greater sacrifies than others so, as the house lots were granted to the settlers, it was done with respect to estate, partly to charges, and partly for other reasons. Caution was used, and they were in no hurry to give out all of the land. After the first organization, no persons from abroad were admitted as citizens without permission of the Town under the penalty of twenty shillings per week, unless they gave satisfactory security to the Town that they would not become a public burden.

In 1640, Richard Swaine was authorized to settle small causes in Hampton.

Corn was cultivated as extensively as possible in the fields developed north of the Green, and following the harvest each year, the whole area was turned over to the Community's herd of Cows for foraging. The townspeople put great emphasis on Cattle raising and in a very short time increased their herd to 450 head. In addition, sheepraising was important for producing wool for clothing. Because both cattle and sheep had to be protected from wolves and other predators, the town paid one of their number to act as shepherd or herdsman.

Since the first lands granted were small house lots lying next to each other around the Meeting House Green, the larger farms that came to be granted to various individuals unavoidably consisted of lands not adjoining their house lots, and in some instances, lying at a considerable distance from them. Thus the land came to be inhabited, or at least cultivated west of the Town Green for a considerable distance, paving the way for further intensive settlements at later dates.

On 6 November 1640, the Town voted that a Way, four rods in width, should be laid out from the Meeting House Green to the falls part of town, passing through Richard Swaines home lot. This road crossed the salt marsh and became known as "The Causeway". It was a combination bridge and road, subjected to frequent washouts and became very difficult to maintain. Since landowners were responsible for repairing the parts of the roads along their property, this put a great burden on Richard Swaine and his neighbor, Thomas Ward. Eventually the Government allotted some financial help for this project.

At a General Court held 1 June 1641, John Crosse, Christopher Hussey and John Moulton of Hampton were appointed "to order small causes" and one of them "to see people joyne in marriage in a publike meeting and keepe records of the same."

Hampton came into the same jurisdiction as Ipswich, Mass, and was to send a grand juryman once a year to Ipswich. At the same session, the Court "ordered that Hampton, Dedham and all the out towners should each of them have a barrell of gun-powder for which they were to give satisfaction to the Treasurer."

Rules were laid down for the conduct of Town Meetings which Richard Swain was required to know, the penalty for violating any of which was six pence, the money raised by such fines, to be used for mending highways or other necessary town business.

Every house was required to breed salt-peter in some outhouses, used for poultry or the like, in order to supply the colony with this ingredient required in the manufacture of gun powder. Failure to do so subjected a family to the fine of twelve shillings per month. "Such peeter as shalbee raised by this means shalbee to the publique use; but the owners shall have a due price for the same".

In 1641, the Town voted to build a pound, and after it was built, Richard Swaine, was appointed pound-keeper for the next year. For impounding great beasts, he was to be allowed two pence ~~apiece~~ apiece and for small cattle, one penny apiece.

As early as 1645, a bounty of ten shillings was offered for each wolf killed by a townsman. They were to bring in the heads and "nayle the same to a little red oake at the north east of the Meeting House." By 1658, the County was increased to five pounds.

Richard and Basselle's son, Nicholas Swaine, died on 18 Aug 1650. No cause of death was given.

In 1653, the General Court passed an Act to restrain unfit persons from preaching the gospel. Many of the people considered this law too arbitrary and severe, and it caused an uproar throughout many towns. The people felt their rights were infringed upon, but the magistrates were determined that their authority was not to be brought into question.

In 1654, Richard Swaine, William Marston, Sr. and Thomas Ward were chosen to determine some method of estimating the value of lands for taxation, that would make the taxes more equal and satisfactory for the future, than had been in former years.

The General Court of Massachusetts had passed a law prohibiting masters of vessels from bringing any Quakers within their jurisdiction, under heavy penalties. Every Quaker ~~within their jurisdiction,~~ arriving here from foreign parts was subjected to imprisonment, stripes and hard labor, and required to leave the country as soon as possible. An undercurrent of resentment and fear was building, as people argued the pros and cons among themselves, and many in the community were wondering about looking for somewhere else to live.

On July 15, 1657, Richard's wife, Barsalle, died, and that same fall on 20 Oct, his oldest son, William, a sergeant in the local militia, was on board a ship, bound for Boston, which foundered shortly after emerging from a local harbor. William's widow, Prudence, daughter of William Marston, was left with eight children, the two youngest, being three-year-old twins, with another baby on its way. Also lost with the same ship, was Moses Coy's wife and son, John. After the birth of her baby, Elizabeth, on 24 Jan 1658, Prudence married Moses Coy on 16 Jun.

The Quaker situation was becoming acute as more of them appeared in this country. In Hampton, a terrible scene of persecution occurred -- Quakers were tied to the back of a cart and dragged through the town, being whipped all the way. On 12 Nov 1657, Richard Swaine, among others, was disenfranchised for entertaining Quakers.

During this time, Tristam Coffin, had been casting about for a place to relocate his family, and a trip to Martha's Vinyard, had learned that Thomas Mayhew, owner of most of Nantucket Island, was willing to sell off parts of it. Word reached back to people he knew in Hampton and around. Richard Swaine was determined to go somewhere else, because it is noted that he was described as being "of Rowley" when he married the widow of George Bunker on 15 Sep 1658. Jane (Godfrey) Bunker had been widowed on 16 May 1658, and left with five children: Elizabeth, 12, William 10, Mary 6, Anne 4, Martha 18 months.

By 1660, Richard Swaine had turned his lands ~~into~~ in Hampton, over to his daughters, Grace (Swaine) [redacted] Boulter and Elizabeth (Swaine) Weare and had left for Nantucket with his second wife and new baby, Richard, who was born in Jan. 1660. At the age of 59, he was starting over again in a pioneer settlement, where he was shortly joined by his son, John.

Nantucket was an Island containing some 300,000 acres. Richard and John Swaine were two of the original purchasers from Thomas Mayhew, together with Tristam Coffin, Sr., Thomas Macy & Thomas Barnard.

Introduction

At the end of the summer of 1991 I learned of the existence of copies of some of the books of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception of Mobile and determined to visit the State Archives in Montgomery, Alabama, where these copies were preserved. A short time later I did visit the Archives and was delightfully surprised to see pages and pages of Book 1 baptisms and burials clearly typed in French, along with photocopies of the pages of the original books of the same. Inasmuch as copies of these could be made, I copied all of the French transcriptions that time allowed and came away from there richer.

My objective in all of this was to translate all of this material and publish the indexes, which people have waited too long for already. With this lengthy work completed, I brought the translations and indexes to the Archdiocesan Archivist, Very Reverend G. Warren Wall. He was quite pleased with so much work and promised to send me copies of untranslated material to move the process along. I also told him that the indexes would be offered to the Coast Journals.

Much still has to be done. It is hoped that the readers of these indexes will find their ancestors therein and obtain the needed copies of pertinent documents.

Regarding these indexes, the single and double first names, e.g., Rosalie and Jeanne Elizabeth, are names of female Blacks or Indians; Jean and Paul Emile are names of males. As you peruse these indexes you will see many of such names.

It is imperative that should someone wish to have a document from the listing below, that he order by section number, name of person sought, page and act. This will insure getting the proper document in translated (English) form. Should the person ordering want a photocopy ofthe original French entry, the Archivist will have to search the books for the year and date of that entry. Inasmuch as these translations cannot be kept by register number, one cannot say in which register the original entry can be found. The Archivist will find it.

Adam Lawrence of New Year Creek

JOHN P. LANDERS

ADAM LAWRENCE WAS BORN IN LOGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, ON October 16, 1799,[1] the son of Joseph Lawrence and the grandson of Adam Lawrence,[2] a North Carolinian, who was one of the first settlers of Kentucky during the late eighteenth century. This elder Adam Lawrence had participated in the American Revolution during his residence in North Carolina. The Lawrence family had immigrated to America from Saint Albans, England, during the seventeenth century and had settled on Long Island. Distinguished members of this line were William Lawrence, a prominent landowner and patentee of Flushing in the seventeenth century, and Adam Lawrence, high sheriff of the Queens and member of the New York legislature in the eighteenth century.[3] Joseph Lawrence began the North Carolina branch of the family in the eighteenth century.

According to family tradition, Adam Lawrence was dissatisfied with a second marriage of his father, Joseph Lawrence. As a result, it is thought that he left his Kentucky home with the connivance of his sisters in 1815, going at the age of fifteen to live with his uncle, Adam Lawrence, at the point where Jonesboro later developed on the Red River.[4] Adam Lawrence, the uncle, was definitely in residence there as early as the winter of 1815, being the first Anglo-Saxon settler to move across the Red River into the present area of Texas. His place of settlement was opposite Kiamichi Creek, in a region vaguely defined and consequently disputed for some time between Arkansas and Texas.[5]

Because there was danger that the United States government might give the land to the Cherokee Indians, the settlers of the area sent various petitions to Congress requesting the right of preemption. On them appeared the names of many early Arkansas and Texas pioneers including that of Lawrence.[6] Numbers of these people later became acquainted with the plans of Moses and Stephen F. Austin, likewise residents of the region, for a colony in Spanish (later Mexican) Texas. Lawrence attached himself to the family of Simon Miller, one of Austin's Old Three Hundred Colonists, and traveled with him to the area of present Washington County, Texas, in December, 1821.[7] Lawrence and Miller camped on New Year Creek with Austin on the last day of 1821. Adam spent some time at the Miller home in Fort Bend County on the San Bernard River and was listed in the census of 1825 as a farm worker in Miller's household.[8]

As was his wont because of a restless spirit, Adam Lawrence made a trip to North Texas to visit his uncle Adam in the spring of 1826. While they were hunting wild horses with relatives and friends along the Washita River on April 17, > they were attacked by a large body of Indians, supposed to be Osages, dressed in soldiers clothing and armed with bows and arrows and shot guns. tance before the two former were overtaken and killed. The latter with great difficulty made his escape, after a long pursuit, in the course of which he received six shot holes through his hunting shirt, but fortunately sustained no other injury. Henry Lawrence, son of George Lawrence, was killed about the same time, while in another direction, in company with Mr. Dewall.[9]

In about 1830, at San Felipe, Lawrence married Sarah Lucinda Miller, the daughter of his old friend Simon Miller, then returned to Washington County and obtained on February 25, 1831, the grant of a quarter of a league of land from the Mexican government.[10] This land was located near the Brazos River on New Year and Cedar creeks adjacent to the lands of Samuel Miller, a brother-in-law of Simon Miller, who also had removed to Washington County by that time, and Gibson Kuykendall. The Kuykendall family, also quite prominent in early Texas annals, had, like the Lawrences, originated in colonial New York and migrated first to North Carolina, thence to Henderson County, Kentucky, thereafter to Arkansas, and finally to Austin's colony. Thus the two families, often connected by marriage, had lived in the same communities for over two hundred years.

Adam Lawrence, like his forbears, was every inch the classic American pioneer. His name is frequently mentioned as being at the head of a group of Indian fighters in the colonial days of Texas and later during the republic. In 1823 and 1824, a severe drouth prevailed over much of Texas, and it was Lawrence who was instrumental in organizing hunting parties to range towards the northeast in search of game to supply the grievous deficiencies in the colony.[11] In 1828, he engaged in a battle with Comanche Indians about two miles below the present site of Taylor.[12] Again in 1830, he was the leader of a group of eleven men organized in the neighborhood of San Felipe to pursue a band of Waco Indians. The eyewitness account of one of the participants paints the encounter in vivid colors:

> In the month of November 1830, a Chickasaw Indian brought intelligence from the frontier that a party of eleven Wacoes were on their way to the neighborhood in which I resided (22 miles northwest from San Felipe) for the purpose of stealing horses. . . . We learned late in the evening, [that they] were encamped near the residence of James Stephenson, on Caney creek [within the present limits of Austin County]. . . . At the dawn of next day, with a force of eleven men, precisely that of the Indians—we stole upon their camp. . . . The Indians ran and were pursued a short distance by our leader, Adam Lawrence, who reloaded and fired at them again—but further pursuit was prevented by the fall of Young Cooper. . . .
> Of the eleven men engaged in this affair only the following names are recollected, viz.: Adam Lawrence, Thomas Stevens,[13] Adam Kuykendall, Charles Gates, George Robinson, William Cooper, B. Kuykendall.[14]

In 1832, there occurred an exploit for which Lawrence is more widely known than for any other in his long career. He was again hunting mustangs in East Texas near the Trinity River when he and his group were astounded to see the "prairie become alive with Indians" who had concealed themselves behind the apparently grazing wild horses. Surprised, the white men took flight, but soon Lawrence, who was ahead of the others, looked back to see that all his companions were down and in the process of being "finished." With an arrow in his own shirt and one in his horse's neck, Lawrence spurred his mare towards the timber of the Trinity three miles distant. Stopping to let his horse breathe, he killed one attacking Indian with his only remaining weapon, a butcher knife. The others continued in hot pursuit until Lawrence had reached the high banks of the Trinity. His own words best describe the rest of the story.

> I knew that for miles, up and down, the banks were bluffs and fifteen or twenty feet high. Where I struck the river they were fifteen. I knew if my mare wouldn't take the leap I had to do it without her. She stopped an instant and snorted once or twice; but, hearing the savages yell close behind, she took the jump. Down, down we went, full fifteen feet, plump into the deep water. We both went under for a second, then she rose, and struck out for the opposite bank with me on her back. Poor creature, she got about two-thirds across, and then gave out under me with a groan. I tell you I fairly loved that animal at that moment, and hated to leave her as bad as if she had been human.

I swam the rest of the way and crawled out on the bank pretty well used up. But I was safe. I saw the howling and disappointed savages come to the bank I had left. But not one of them dared to take the leap. And the distance was too great for them to shoot. So I rested awhile and then made the best of my way to the settlement.[15]

A unique experience is attributed to Lawrence in 1833. An old Spaniard came to the Lawrence home stating that he was sick and asking to rest there a few days. After a month of somewhat wary hospitality on the part of the family, the partially recovered Spaniard informed his host that he had been one of Lafitte's buccaneers. He explained further that, during Lafitte's "capture on Galveston Island by the U. S. Marines," he and two companions, who had been guarding the treasure, had escaped notice and had subsequently hidden the spoils in two old cannons, one for gold, and the other for silver, which they then buried under a hackberry tree.

The old Spaniard, being the sole survivor, offered to divide the loot with "Señor Lawrence" and eventually make him his heir if Lawrence would provide him a home until his death. The journey in search of the treasure, to which Lawrence agreed, commenced soon thereafter, but on the second night "Señor Adam," after gazing upon the sinister, scarred visage of his sleeping companion and hearing the howling of wolves and the hooting of an owl, looked heavenward and saw the "stars falling in showers." This phenomenon of November 3, 1833, convinced him that his companion was a diabolical visitant, leading him to destruction; consequently, he fled in terror. Sometime later a man who witnessed the Spaniard's death brought Lawrence a package addressed to the pirate's "heir." His wife, Sarah Miller Lawrence, put the bundle away and promptly forgot its location, but Lawrence, having examined briefly the map it contained together with pieces of Spanish gold, set out with his brother-in-law, Lindsay P. Rucker, a surveyor, to find the treasure. This and several other trips were unavailing. At the time of Lawrence's death, however, twenty-eight Spanish gold pieces were found among his possessions.[16]

With the possible exception of the above-mentioned expedition, Adam Lawrence was nearly always accompanied by his devoted old slave Jim, who cooked and acted as a body servant. When the Negro died, he was buried in Lawrence Chapel cemetery next to the place where his master was destined to rest. Another old slave often mentioned in Lawrence's annals was Sella, a Negro woman who was brought as a child from Virginia by Simon Miller.[17] Sarah Miller received Sella as part of her dowry when she married Lawrence, and the old Negress lived until after Lawrence's death in 1878.

The clouds of discontent were gradually gathering during the early 1830's, and when the first rumblings of revolution broke out, Lawrence was in the forefront of the fray. In 1835, he joined the volunteer scouting company under the command of William B. Travis and, after various horse-catching forays, took part in the historic siege of Bexar, in December of that year.[18] He was with Houston's army at Gonzales, and, when he heard of the massacre at the Alamo, in which his wife's half brother, Thomas R. Miller, was killed,[19] he hastened home to aid his family in preparations for that great flight before the Mexican advance known as the Runaway Scrape. While they and the slaves remained at Groce's plantation near Hempstead, he took part in the victorious Battle of San Jacinto, in which his half-brother, Joseph Lawrence, was also a combatant.[20] Thereafter he re-enlisted in Captain Henry Reed's company and served therein from June 4 to September 4, 1836.[21]

Besides the headright augmentation of three quarters of a league and a labor of land, which he received in Washington County on January 13, 1838,[22] Lawrence was awarded various grants for his revolutionary services. He received 3,273.74 acres of land in Madison County in 1844 and 499.71 acres in Trinity County as a first class augmentation to the former in 1845; in 1848 he was awarded a bounty of 320 acres in Calhoun County.[23]

Subsequent to the revolution he had lived for about a year and a half in Burleson County, but in 1838 he followed Yegua Creek to its source in Milam (present Williamson) County and settled at a place known soon thereafter as the Crossroads and later as Lawrence Chapel.[24] The land on which he settled consisted of three fourths of a league and a labor which had been granted to his father-in-law, Simon Miller, in January, 1838. Miller died during the following month, however, and some dispute arose. The Republic of Texas awarded the disputed land to Adam Lawrence's brother-in-law, Simon Miller, Jr., on November 20, 1845.[25] In the meantime Lawrence had been living thereon. This was a region of which he was quite fond, and it is said that he was the first white man to cross Brushy Creek at the point later known as Lawrence's Crossing.[26] There, with the aid of his slaves, he constructed a large double log house of hewn beams, the size of which shows that the trees of his day were much larger than the post oak presently growing in the area. The building still stands and is used as a barn by a descendant. On October 12, 1848, Simon Miller, Jr., made a formal transmission of 2,000 acres of this "Miller League" to Lawrence.[27]

Soon the locality began to thrive because of its site and well-watered, arable land. Lawrence, being a devout Methodist, set aside land for religious worship and soon built a log church on it for the use of early circuit riders. A frame church, about the third to be erected on the spot, is still in use.[28] The first person to be buried in the adjacent cemetery was, according to tradition, a child of some travelers who spent the night at Lawrence's home in the late 1840's.

Lawrence was also an active Mason and, in addition to his range brand, which is registered in the courthouse at Georgetown,[29] used as his trail brand an unusual Masonic emblem,[30] which was later used by his son-in-law, Henry Inlo Layne.

About 1848, Lawrence's aged father, Joseph, came from Kentucky and was reconciled with his son, who had so bitterly opposed his second marriage. Joseph spent the remaining years of his life at Lawrence Chapel and was buried in the cemetery when he died about 1853.[31]

At first there was no school in the area, and the children were sent back to Washington County for their education—in later times to Salado Academy. After about 1850, however, Lawrence hired a teacher to instruct the younger children of the community in the church building.[32]

Lawrence became a prosperous farmer and stockraiser in the years preceding the Civil War. In 1860, he owned over three thousand acres of land in Williamson County valued at $3,500, whereas his personal property was evaluated at $4,000.[33] He owned four slaves, a large number of cattle, and also had acquired about 1,000 acres of land in Comanche County.

His discouragement at the failure of the Southern cause, in which his children and sons-in-law participated, and other changes together with the crowding of newcomers into the area caused him to adopt in 1866 a bold plan which Captain F. S. Wade describes in his recollections:

> His children, some of them married, his brethren in the church, and hosts of friends tried to dissuade him from moving in his old age from a good home and an abundance of this world's goods. All was unavailing. In less than a month he had traded his land for one thousand cattle, having about the same number in his own brand. In ox wagons he started for California.[34] At El Paso he sold all his cattle except his teams at twenty dollars a head in gold, bringing over forty thousand dollars. That fall he reached Los Angeles and bought several sections of land between the then small town and the Ocean on the San Gabriel River, establishing a stock ranch. Since then this has proven the most valuable land in the U. S. But in a few years the same old trouble overtook him. Settlements began to thicken around him. So he sold again and moved to a lofty valley 80 miles north of Los Angeles and that distance from any neighbor. He moved his cattle. This valley was in the Cascade range of mountains. Here trouble and misfortune followed him. His cattle strayed off; frost came every month in the year; his remaining children married and left him, and worst of all, his loved and trusted wife dear old Aunt Sallie sickened and died. His property was gone and he was left desolate.[35]

After the failure of his California venture, Lawrence returned to Texas, and, at the suggestion of Captain Wade, applied for a Revolutionary veteran's bond.[36] In about 1875, he lived at Lawrence Chapel in the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. I. Layne, who had remained in Texas because of her previous marriage. The other children stayed in California after his return. Lawrence died on October 2, 1878, at the Layne home and was buried in Lawrence Chapel cemetery.[37]

Soft-spoken, generous, proud, loyal to friends and family, but quick to anger and restless under restraint, Adam Lawrence was the embodiment of the pioneer type that characterized Texas in the mid-nineteenth century. Of his courage and daring there is no need to speak further.

The supposition seems very plausible, that the family by this name in Perq, came as so many others had done, from Nansemond Co Va, where John Lawrence, was living very early, according to the records of Isle of Wight Co. These records show that Ann Exum of Isle of Wight, wife of Jeremiah, appears to be a daughter of said John Lawrence. No proofs are to be found, but he probably came south with the immigration from New England, where he married Elizabeth Adkinson, 8, 12mo 1653. (Records of Boston.) The Lawrence family appeared in Perq Co, N. C. simultaneously with the Clare's, and others, about 1680-85. Dear Ms Schumacher:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 22, 1993.

Enclosed are copies of Mrs. Nance's Ryan Groupsheet and Teresa Holland's groupsheet.

Also enclosed are copies of pages 55, 120 & 121 from the Deep South Genealogical Quarterly 1988.

Brother Jerome Lepre, SC, Brother Martin High School New Orleans, LA has written an article on the Ryan Family which appeared in Vol. I, No. 1, Journal of the Jackson County Genealogical Society. I hope that it is of much help to you. Brother Jerome is an excellent researcher and has done much to help us with Gulf Coast families. He sometimes is able to access records that we can not.

If we can be of further service, please let us know.

Sincerely yours,

Jean Strickland

Dear Ms. Strickland,

I am researching the family of John Phillips (b. ca 1780), and trying to determine that the father of John Phillips was George Phillips who died in 1798, in what is now Washington Co. He owned land east of Mobile on Major's Creek. I believe John married Elizabeth Ryan ?? but can not verify that. They had three children: Ann, Margaret, and Lawrence (my G.Grandfather, born Nov 8, 1817). John later married Martha G. Myers in 1829, and moved to Sumter Co., Alabama, in 1831

1. I am interested in the Ryan family of early Washington Co. to establish the first marriage of John. I understand there is a Priest in LA who had researched this family. Do you have his address so that I might write to him for information.

2. Would you also please send a copy of Mrs. Nance's Ryan Groupsheet or any other that you may have that might fit

3. Would you please send a copy of pages 55, 120 & 121 of the Deep South Genealogy Quarterly - 1988.

I have a lot of information on the Myers, Godfrey, McRae, Powe and Pegues, all of whom moved from South Carolina to Miss. and Alabama, and all were in some way connected to my ancestry.

Enclosed is my check for $5.00. If this is not sufficient, please let me know.

Thank you,

Mary Schumacher

Subject: Re: lennep and poitevin

Yes, I'd love to know more! Sorry it's taken me a while to write back. I'd come in to the library myself, but I live pretty far away (on the Pacific island of Guam). I don't know too much about them as it is, but I know a little more about the Poitevins than the Lenneps. The only things I really have are a few birth/death dates that I found on the Internet. I'm not really sure if they are accurate, and they mostly go for the Poitevin family, so any additional information you could offer would be wonderful. The dates I have for Elwood are: birth 1888 Aug 15, death 1977 Dec 27, and Ozie, born 1911 Jul 12, died 1986 May 09. I believe that the Poitevins had a decoy production plant, but I do not know much about it.

Also, I'm not sure if you would have any records for this side, but I am also interested in the family history of Anthony "Bay" Nicholas Lawrence Sr. (who I was named after). To be honest, I don't have any information at all about his parents. I believe he lived in Biloxi. Sorry I don't have more helpful information to give.

Thank you very much for helping me!
Nicholas

Dear Nicholas,

You have a really interesting family. Want to know more?

Dear Nick,

I am enclosing information in three groups: Poitevin, Lawrence, and Lennep. The papers in the Lennep file were fairly organized and someone has taken time to compile it. Unfortunately, the other two families are really interesting and there is so much information on them but it is scattered and no one to my knowledge has done any family group work that I can see. If its been done they haven't shared them with us!!! So you will have to look closely at the information to interpret it. I've given you some group sheets and it is good to fill them out on each nuclear family and it helps you keep things straight. Then after you've found a decent amount on the family you can put it into Family Tree Maker or some other software for genealogy. Perhaps Shawn O'Sullivan has done it…I'll ask him next time I see him. He is practicing medicine in Jackson. Of course, the other person to contact would be Tony Lawrence.

If you need death records, you can get them for anyone who died after 1912, in Mississippi- you can look online for the Vital Statistics office for the form.

After you look through this stuff and organize it and get a feel for your ancestors, you may have additional requests when you see what you're missing. Just let us know and we'll do what we can. And please remember if you do make progress on the sheets, share them with us so others from the family will be able to access information. They are very important families on the Gulf Coast and have thousands of descendants and we would love to have any additional information on them that you can get.

I sure hope I didn't offend you by mentioning the albino gene. I am the kind of person that wants to know everything about all my relatives and nothing offends me…to me it is just knowledge. But I'm not a scientist so I probably spoke out of turn. It was just mentioned in a paper in 1880 that Mr. Shuler was downtown with the two albino Lennep children, according to a local historian that wrote a book on Moss Point. He didn't put that in the book and I haven't seen the article. One of my best friends, Lindsay Wilson, is just graduating from Tulane Law School, and she is a Lennep descendant and when she found that out she was glad because she cannot get out in the sun without getting sick. Of course, not everyone gets the genes..or they are recessive. Then I've noticed other Lenneps to be very fair. I haven't seen a pure albino…but maybe there were those two in 1880… who knows…I guess you could call it anecdotal history.

The Poitvens go back to many interesting familes, including the Krebs…really early settlers..and then there are the Pensacola bunch..the Palmes, and Villars, etc… You could spend a long time researching your family. And the Laurences go back to Spain…wonder where in Spain? And the name was probably different…like Laurendino or something similar.

Well, here's enough for now. Digest and let us here from you.

Sincerely,

Renee Gautier-Hague

Yes, I belive that's him! Wow, thanks!

My address is:
Nicholas Illich
P.O. Box 5158
UOG Station, Mangilao, GU 96928

That is very interesting about the Lenneps. I never knew that they had the albino gene! Are Auguste and Victorine the parents or grandparents of Ozie? I had heard that Ozie's mother (or grandmother, maybe) was from a Native American tribe, although I'm not sure which one (everyone just calls her 'Grandmaw Maize'. I'm not sure what her actual name was).

Tony Lawrence is actually one of my uncles. I haven't thought of asking him yet, perhaps I'll try. I tried asking my mother (his sister), but she does not know too much of the details. I was doing some Internet research and that is how I came accross your address.

Guam is very beautiful, a tropical island. Have you known people from here? I am not in the military myself, but came here with my parents, nearly 5 years ago. I ended up staying behind after they moved back in order to finish my education, but after that I stayed to be with my beautiful wife and step-son. I really love it here, but I miss the family.

I haven't seen everyone in a while now. My wife and I are going to be joining the Coast Guard ourselves, so we may end up coming back to the mainland sometime after that. I will most likely be in New Jersey training for a few weeks, so I may not get the package until after I return, but my brother is going to be picking up the mail for me and I will look forward to receving it!

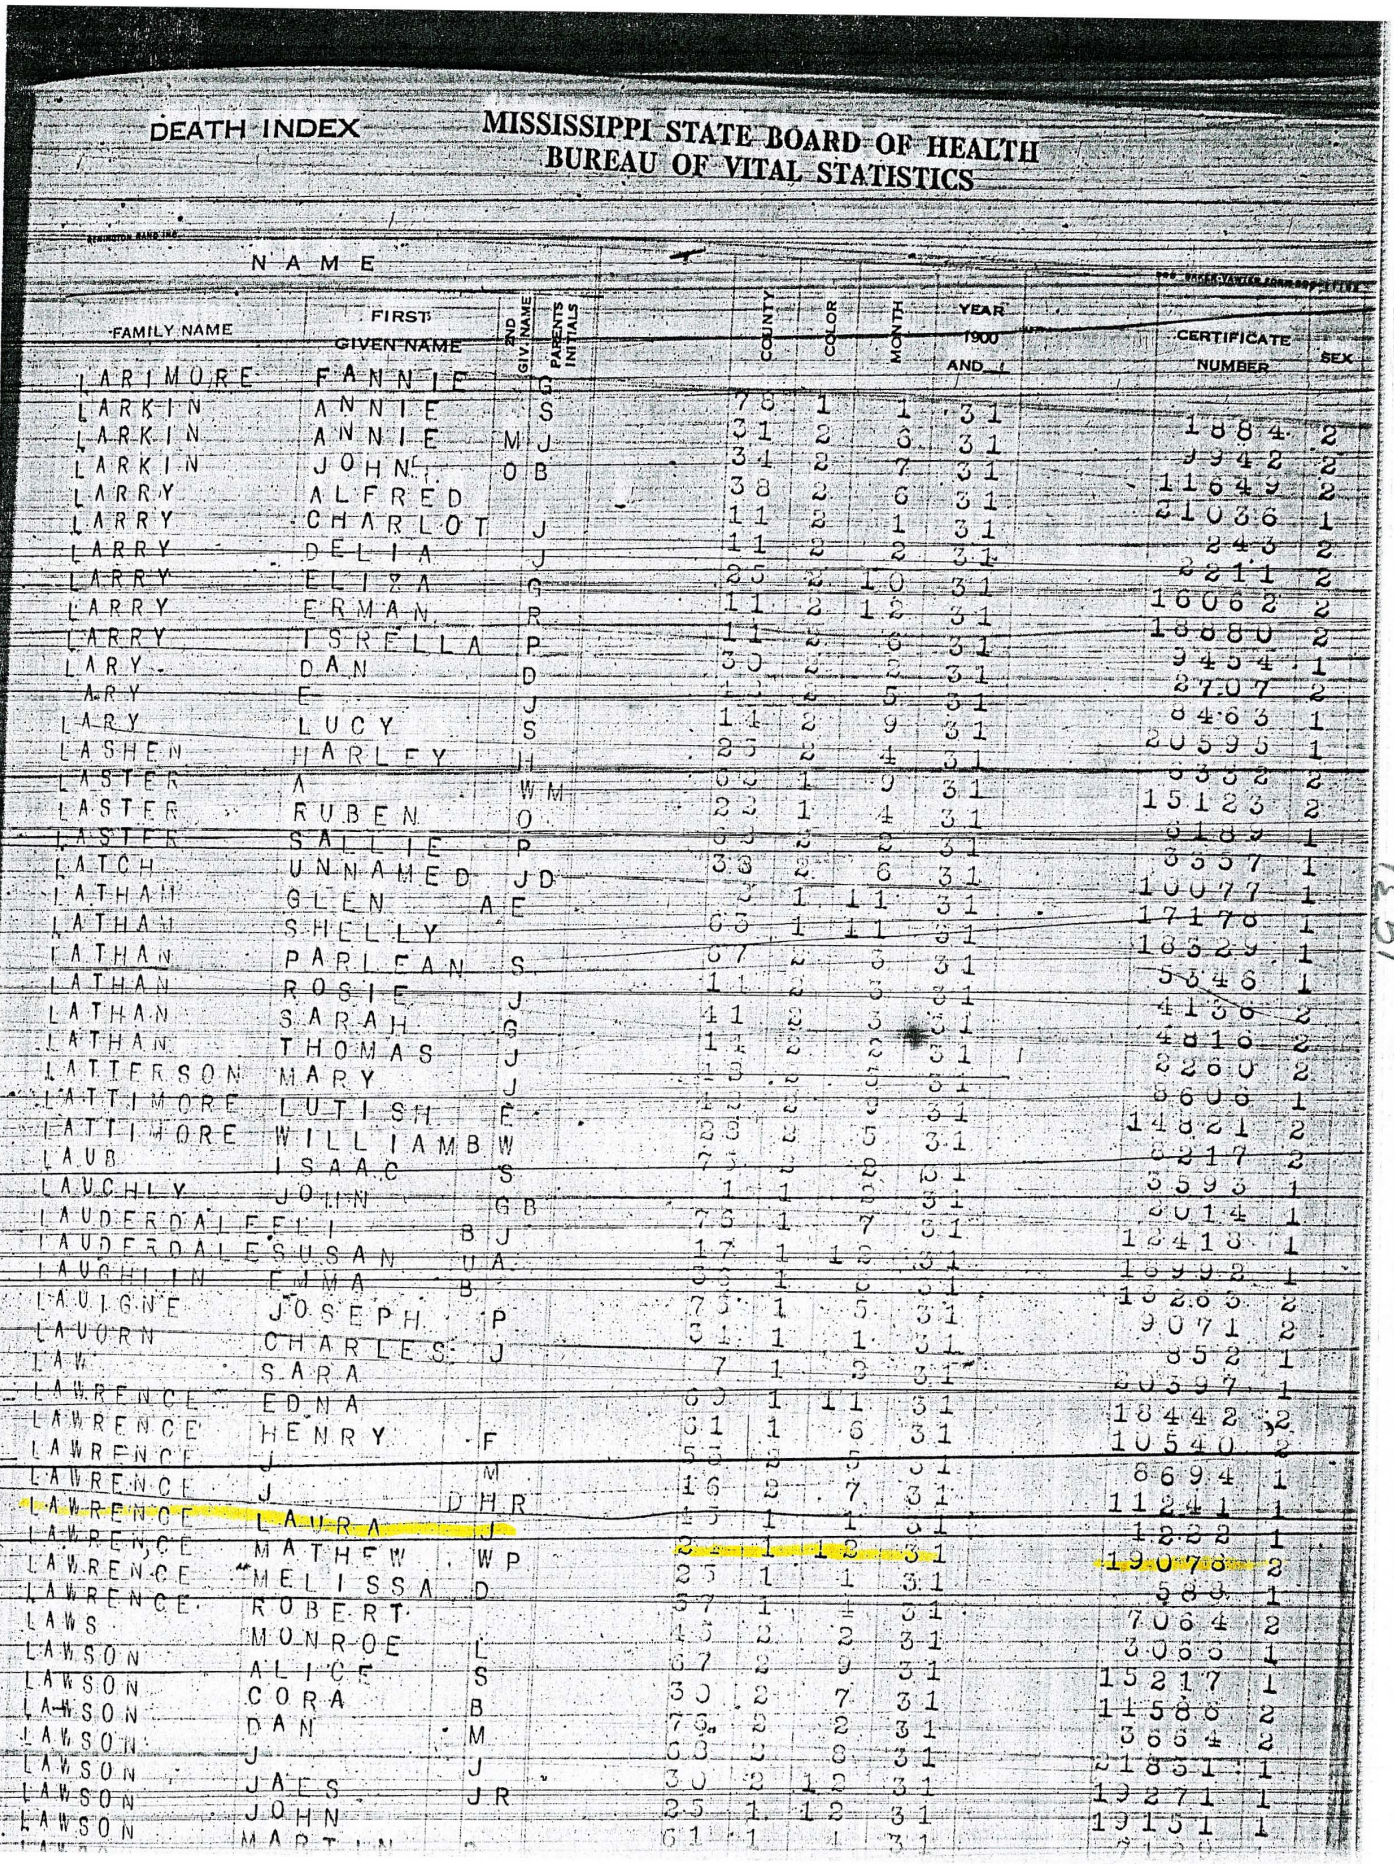

Thanks!
Nick

Allyson Lawrence

Allyson Lawrence is a family service worker with the Jackson County Head Start Program in Moss Point where she has worked for the past two years. Lawrence assists families with children in the program. She helps families set goals and helps with the health needs of her students. She makes sure that the basic needs are met within the families of the students. "I love it. It makes me feel good knowing that I helped someone," she said. "I get enjoyment knowing I'm able to help people better themselves or their families."

Lawrence was born and raised in Lucedale but has lived in Moss Point since she began working with Head Start. She has two children — a son Da'mon, 5, and a newborn daughter, London — that she enjoys spending time with.

State stops paying

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Tennessee hospital officials want to meet with Gov. Bill Allain after they discovered that Mississippi will no longer pay a portion of the health care costs of indigent Mississippi patients at Tennessee hospitals.

Officials have called the cuts "irresponsible" and said that it could eliminate medical care for thousands of poor northern Mississippians.

The Regional Medical Center at Memphis was told Friday that Mississippi and Arkansas no longer can reimburse the center for the cost.

Mississippi officials reminded hospital administrators that the Mississippi Legislature had abolished the State Hospital Commission and could not pay for treatment of Mississippi residents as of April 30.

The decision by Mississippi legislators to discontinue the reimbursement program affects Regional Medical Center, the Le Bonheur Children's Medical Center and Baptist Memorial Hospital. The three hospitals annually received payments from Mississippi's $3 million fund.

"This is totally irresponsible and reprehensible," said Jim Rout, chairman of the Shelby Cmunty (Tenn.) Commission. "I am amazed that the leadership ... can think along those lines. It is reprehensible that they expect us to take care of their indigents who cross the river or the border."

Slain sheriff buried

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. — Funeral services were held Saturday for Marshall County Sheriff Osborne Bell, who was killed Wednesday morning while he and a sheriff's deputy were arresting a man and woman on drug charges.

Meanwhile, an autopsy report released Friday showed Bell, the first black sheriff in Marshall County, died when a bullet cut into a major artery in his neck.

Authorities said that state medical examiner Thomas Bennett had ruled that Bell died of a gunshot wound to the neck. State Highway patrol investigator Kenny Dickerson said the size of the wound "was consistent" with a 22-caliber bullet.

Authorities believe the suspect who shot Bell during his arrest on Wednesdaymorning fired once from a hidden 22-caliber pistol about as long as a finger.

Pot starts fire

A pot left unattended on the stove was reported as the cause of a fire that extensively damaged a house at 4843 Jackson Ave. in Moss Point Saturday.

Spokesman for the Moss Point Fire Department said the duplex was owned by E.J. McInnis and occupied by Calvin Montgomery. Damages were estimated at $8,000 to the structure and $1,000 to the contents. No injuries were reported.

Lt. Ernest Ory directed units 1, 3 and 7 in extinguishing the blaze.

Bradford-O'Keefe Funeral Records
Books 1 through 32
1904 - 1948

Compiled by Julie Broussard Suarez

I have compiled an index of the first thirty-two books of the Bradford-O'Keefe Funeral Home burial records to help other researchers, like me, in their endeavors. Bradford-O'Keefe Funeral Home served families along the coastal area in Mississippi. The final product is an index containing over 10,000 entries; it begins in 1904 and continues into 1948. Included in this index are: 1) first and last name of deceased; 2) date of birth and date of death; fathers and mothers name; and book number and page where information can be found. All information is included that was available in the record. You will find several different spellings of the same name, I left them like that so you could see the possible ways to hunt your ancestor. Some of the records may be misspelled because I could not read the writing on the record or if the record itself was misspelled .

These books of records are available at the Biloxi Library in the Geneological Section. I would like to thank them for the use of the records. They are also available at the funeral home.

Note: While in the process of completing this publication, a volume of Bradford records were discovered that have no book or page numbers. I am inputting them into the computer and will have them available soon. There are records in this volume ranging from 1945 through 1952.

Endorsed by Bradford-O'Keefe Funeral Homes.

My Darling A. A.

This will inform you that your brother George departed his life Thursday the 11th about 11 O'Clock P.M. (July the 11th) He had been in a decline for over 5 years-but suffered awfuly the last 6 months.

The last weak he had to take so much morfen that he was seceles most of the time-never give out til the day before. He died-when all at once he brightened up-seemed like himself again Called all his family around his bed made an able prayer for them from that to the end. I hardly think he knew any one.

Rose takes it awful hard so does all the family. I hope it will do the boyes good I think it will. George seems quite changed He is find able young man for 19. Has been getting $2.50 a day at plastering. They own their house two stories with 7 rooms quite well furnished. They have cow-and about $50 in cash with the 2 boys at work I feel shure they will get along fine. Eva was at his bedside night and day til the end came----she gives to the World's Hope-Her father fell greatly in love with its teaching before he died.

And_____-clinging to the HOPE of the coming of the lord and the final salvation of all mankind from sin. See 1st con 3rd chapter from 11th to 16 verse.

Oh I do hope and pray you will write the letter to brother G. W. Paton an his father J. H. Paton either one will do. Please don't put it off. I feel god will bless you in doing so. And we will all pray for the ones whos name is left behind-_____ will come and_____ will be known.

MACHPELAH CEMETERY

Machpelah Cemetery is located on Machpelah Road in the City of Pascagoula. At the time of its establishment the cemetery was in the county halfway between Moss Point & Pascagoula. On February 24, 1890, the Machpelah Cemetery Association was formed and administered the operation and upkeep of the cemetery until 1977 when the City of Pascagoula became custodian. The original officers and shareholders were as follows:
John Hill, President;
H. B. Everett, Secretary
F. H. Lewis Treasurer

The charter members were:
Capt. G. A. R. Lawrence, Dr. W. D. Bragg, J A. Blumer, W. Denny, L. N. Dantzler, Capt. H. Colle, Capt. C. T. Irving, J. W. Stewart, C. M. Alley, George H. Huggins, George Frentz, James Smith, H. B. Everett, F. H. Lewis, P. K. Mayers, B. R. Pickett, John Hill, Burton Goode, and J. L. Wiggins.

Scranton, Mississippi:
FRIDAY.....December 19, 1890.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. NANCY LAWRENCE was born in Greensborough, Ala., May 3, 1828. Died at the residence of her son, Capt. G. A. R. Lawrence, Moss Point, Miss., December 12, 1890.

She gave her heart to God at the early age of 15 years, and united with the M. E. Church at Point Clear, Ala., and during the varied experiences of life, by a consistent walk and conversation, adorned the Gospel which she professed. She was patient and gentle in her last sickness and bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude. And when the end came she passed into the spirit land as peacefully and sweetly as a babe falls asleep on its mother's breast.
